BALMY BREEZES PUT PEP IN TRACK MEN

Big Bunch Out Daily To Get Ready For Vanderbilt

FIRST MEET APRIL 21

The breezes of balmy April striking against bare strong arms and almost nude lower extremities are egging on the University track aspirants to supreme efforts in their preparation for the meet to be held with the delegation from Vanderbilt April 21 on Stoll Field. In order that no line may get out on the trial achievements in the different events by opposing aggregations, the coaches have declined to give out the records made so far in training.

The team has more men trying out now than were out at this time last spring, and in the meets will probably appear representatives in the sprints, the half-mile, mile, hurdles, running high jump, running broad jump, pole vault, hammer throw, discus hurl and shot put.

Captain Earle Grabfelder, around whom the team is being built, is out for the short dashes. Enuf said! Grabby has a ten-second record and altho no official timing is being given out, it has been hinted that he is spurring true to form. Other aspirants for the sprints are Kahn, Forman, Kinne, Knight, Frank Shinnick, Brunson and Duncan.

For the half Planck, the erstwhile cheer-leader, Chote, J. W. Campbell and Holliwell are out. Four candidates are also trying for the mile. They are Shouse, Whaley, Asbury and Mapstone.

Mayhew, Browning, Parker, Campbell, Scribner and Gay are endeavoring to get into hurdling form.

Gus Gay and Bell are trying to bump their craniums against the grand old canopy in the running high jump. They have hitched their spring wagon to a star.

Boo Ireland, a newly retired soldier from one field of fame, is getting over a respectable expanse of terra firma in the broad jump. Forman is also a candidate for this event. Assisted by a pole, Moore, Brunson, Brittain, Little and Ireland are clearing the bar nicely.

Now, in abbreviated array, the heavy men shall pass before our vision. Hickerson is handy with the weights, and he is entered in the hammer throw, the discus event and the shot put. Whaley, in the hammer throw, Farmer and Marshall, hurlers of the discus; Davidson, Grabfelder, Warth and Farmer, in the shot put, are other heavies.

"Dad" Bowles, track coach, is authority for the following sharp stuff: "A few misguided individuals have been spreading a report that the University of Kentucky never had a winning track team and ought never ex-

COLLEGE OF LAW TO FURNISH COMPANY

Students Volunteer To Drill
Three Hours Every Week

FORTY HAVE SIGNED

The latest military development at the University is the formation of a volunteer infantry company by the students of the College of Law, who under the present military system are not required to drill. About forty men have signed a petition for voluntary enlistment in the company and it is thought others will join them, completing the organization within a few days. The lawyers will drill three times each week, from 2:15 to 3:15 o'clock in the afternoon.

Students of the Law College have not been required to drill until this year, when a one-year rule for first-year lawyers was started. Many, however, have had drill in other schools, in the National Guard and in the University battalion, while enrolled in other departments, and a census has been taken of the entire college to determine the amount of drill each student has had.

Officers for the company will be chosen at once from students of the college, subject to the approval of Captain John C. Fairfax, commandant at the University. Guns, when needed, will be furnished by the University.

Those who have enrolled in the company are: N. H. Aaron, R. S. Bowen, B. B. Black, E. T. Bowls, J. V. Chamberlain, J. F. Corn, J. P. Cherry, V. Chapman, C. T. Dotson, K. C. Elswick, W. O. Fogg, R. M. Green, G. B. Fishback, H. H. Green, J. F. Gregory, E. Grabfelder, J. Howard, H. E. Hackney, E. P. Hatter, J. P. Herndon, W. C. Hoskins, B. E. Hickerson, W. J. Kallbreier, D. V. Kibbey, Sam Morton, C. P. Mabry, W. B. Martin, B. W. McMurry, J. J. McBrayer, W. A. Minihan, C. S. Ramsey, J. G. Reynolds, Felix Renick, William Rhodes, A. A. Skidmore, B. H. Witten and O. C. Walker.

GRAHAM TO CHICAGO TO ATTEND MEETING

Herbert D. Graham, instructor in the Department of Journalism, left Wednesday for Chicago, Illinois, where he will attend the convention of American Association of Teachers of Journalism, which will be held at the Hotel LaSalle April 5, 6 and 7. Mr. Graham was appointed a delegate to represent the University of Kentucky by Professor Enoch Grehan.

Representatives from publicity organizations of various colleges and universities of the country will meet in joint session with the teachers of journalism. Some of the editors of leading magazines and newspapers of the United States will be in attendance and all phases of the teaching of journalism will be discussed.

HENRY CLAY ENROLLS TWO WOMEN MEMBERS

Misses Rebecca Paretz and Lucille Cruikshank are the first women members of the Henry Clay Law Society of the University. The young ladies applied for membership at the last meeting of the society, held Wednesday night, March 28, and were then officially enrolled. They are students of the College of Law and are taking an active part in all the activities of the department.

A large crowd was present at the meeting, and an interesting program was rendered. Plans are being made for a mock trial at the meeting Wednesday night, April 10, to which Dean Hamilton's English class and all others desiring to come will be invited. It has been the custom of the society to give a mock trial each spring for the benefit of Miss Hamilton's English students.

JUNIOR MECHS LEAVE FOR TRIP INTO OHIO

Cincinnati, Dayton and Hamilton To Be Visited

TO RETURN SATURDAY

Not to be outdone by the wayfaring Seniors, the Juniors of the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering left on the Southern Tuesday morning on their annual inspection trip to visit and study the factories of several Ohio cities. They will not go quite so far north as the Seniors, who leave Sunday for Chicago, and must content themselves with visiting Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton, returning home Saturday night.

Those making the trip are: Harold Parks, J. C. Owens, John Cooper, C. W. Jordan, William McDougale, Lewis Bauer, Alfred Brittain, Harry Milward, R. W. Waterfall, D. R. Ellis, J. D. Maddox, M. L. Watson, R. M. Davis, U. V. Garred, H. M. Henry, K. W. Goosman, R. D. Nesbitt, Sidney Wright, James Hedges and Buford Russell. Professors Curtis, Frankel and Duncan, of the Mechanical Department, will accompany the students.

PICKWICK CLUB HAS HUMOROUS PROGRAM

The Pickwick Club held an enthusiastic and rather prolonged session Tuesday evening. The discussion was pre-eminently philosophical but was richly spiced with humor. G. B. Fishback's "Hash-house Philosophy" would have shamed a composite production of Emerson and Nye, while J. D. V. Chamberlain defended "The Smoke Ordinance in Hades" with a becoming altruism. Professor Farquhar circumnavigated the globe and then returned to tell a joke and smoke a cigar.

PATRIOTIC EXERCISES ARE HELD IN CHAPEL

University Men From Border
Honored Friday Morning

TALKS ARE FEATURES

A patriotic rally to show the appreciation of the student body for the University students who went with the Kentucky troops to the border was held in chapel last Friday morning. Talks were made by Lieutenant Bush, Dr. Glanville Terrell, J. D. V. Chamberlain, R. S. Clayton, L. J. Heyman and Dean C. R. Melcher. President Barker presided.

Dr. Terrell discussed the honor which it meant to a young Athenian to be allowed to carry arms. To be given arms meant that a boy was a patriotic citizen, because he could use the arms just as well against his country as in its defense. So the men from the University are patriotic citizens.

The speaker said that the Greeks believed the bearing of arms a part of their education. This should be the case today. Human nature has not changed a great deal thru the ages and after the end of the great war we cannot assume that universal peace is at hand. It is the duty of every good citizen to be able, willing and ready to serve his country in time of need.

J. D. V. Chamberlain spoke of the sacrifice of the men from the University who answered the call to defend their country. "When the President issued the call for men," Mr. Chamberlain said, "they answered from all over the country. These men answered in the fair name of Kentucky, without any thought of their personal safety. Their only thought was to save the nation. The same spirit prompted the Americans at Bunker Hill and Pickett's men at Gettysburg. They are made of the same stuff."

Mr. Clayton thanked the students for this display of appreciation, saying that it was the first real welcome he had received since his arrival from the border.

Dean Melcher told of his personal experiences in Washington at the time when the United States battleship Maine was sunk. He told of how much Old Glory meant to him at that time and to thousands of other patriotic Americans.

The speaker said that he had lived in Germany for several years and stated that the thoro military training which everyone receives is largely responsible for the Teutons' success in the European war. He urged universal military training for the United States, saying that it was almost essential in this day of preparedness.

Patriotic music was furnished at the exercises by the cadet band. The University men who answered the call to arms were: H. J. Dean, R. S. Clayton, R. G. Poindexter, Guy Ledgwick, M. A. McDanielis, D. W. Latti-

PHILOSOPHIAN PLAY CLEVER PRODUCTION

Scores Hit Despite Absence of Male Characters in the Cast

MISS MCGOWAN STARS

(By Eliza Piggott.)

The Philosophian Literary Society gave Saturday night in the gymnasium, its annual play, "A Southern Cinderella," considered by many the best the organization has presented.

The play itself was well chosen and admirably adapted to amateur production. The story is that of a young girl robbed of her rightful inheritance, first by a haughty unforgiving grandmother, who was estranged from her daughter by a forbidden marriage; then by two English adventuresses, who try to destroy the will and take everything for themselves.

The fairy godmother comes in the form of a settlement worker with an old black mammy for assistant. Between them they restore the little Cinderella's fortune, and all ends happily.

Miss Bertha Miller was splendid in the part of Mammy Judy Johnson, a black Blue Grass widow. Her lines were clever and she kept the audience in a gale of laughter at every appearance.

Miss Louise Will played well the part of Madame Charteris, the old aristocrat. Her voice was good, and she interpreted the character skillfully. It was a matter of general regret that her lines were so few.

Enid Bellamy, the Southern Cinderella, was played by Miss Elizabeth McGowan, who was sweet and appealing and won the sympathy of the audience from the first.

Miss Zula Ferguson and Miss Edith Sachs took the parts of the English adventuresses. They were most villainous "villianesses", and their English accent was, in the words of Mammy Judy, "mighty salubrious."

Miss Eyrl Richmond and Miss Vivian DeLaine took the parts of a settlement worker and a coquette, respectively. Both were splendid, their scenes with Mammy Judy being particularly good.

One unusual thing about this play was the absence of male characters. The prince never appeared, nor did any of those charming gauds described by the coquette. The action proceeded very well without them, however, and for once the hero was not missed.

R. A. HUNT TO EDIT
RURAL KENTUCKIAN

Russell Hunt was elected editor-in-chief of The Rural Kentuckian; C. R. Morgan, associate editor; J. G. Stewart, business manager, and J. C. Melvin, circulation manager, at the regular weekly meeting of the Agricultural Society Monday night. They will serve the rest of this collegiate year and half of next.

The offices of assistant business manager and assistant circulation manager were not filled, but Sophomores will be elected to those places at the meeting next Monday night.

A big rally is to be staged at the coming meeting to arouse interest in The Rural Kentuckian and the regular society meetings. Every agricultural student in the University is urged to be there at 7:30 o'clock Monday night, April 9, in the animal husbandry lecture room of the Agriculture Building.

Refreshments will be served after the business meeting and a good crowd is expected.

SPEAKER DISCUSSES ELECTRICAL POWER

M. C. Turpin, representative of the Westinghouse Electrical Manufacturing Company, of East Pittsburgh, delivered an illustrated lecture in the chemistry lecture room of the University, Thursday afternoon on the application of electricity to transportation.

"Electric locomotives have become a necessity in the big tunnels because of the poisonous gases produced by the steam locomotive," said Mr. Turpin, and he proved his point by showing motion pictures scenes of great trains thruout the East, where electrical power has been substituted for steam power.

Speed is one of the big gains of electricity over steam and the much greater capacity of an electrically-driven motor over the steam locomotive. The lecture was one of a series of similar lectures given under the auspices of the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering.

WORK ON KENTUCKIAN
IS ALMOST COMPLETED

Students Have Until Friday
Night To Sign Up
For Annual

REQUIRE $1.00 DEPOSIT

Work on setting up the 1917 Kentuckian has been practically completed and the book is ready to go to press as soon as the printers are advised as to how many copies will be needed.

A number of students have signified their intention of subscribing for an annual, but have not as yet made the required deposit of $1. The staff has decided to extend the time for subscribing for the Kentuckian until Friday night. Copies for all who make the first deposits before that date will be reserved when the book comes off press and up until the end of the year, if they are not called for.

Arrangements have been made with the printers whereby all Seniors who pay the full subscription price of $2.50 at this time can have their names stamped in gold on the cover of the book for an additional charge of 25 cents. This proposition is open for a limited time and all who desire to take advantage of the offer are requested to see the business manager at once.

During the subscription contest a number of students gave their promises for Kentuckians to men who have dropped out of the contest. The only ones who are now taking subscriptions for the book are Miss Nancy Innes and members of the business and editorial staff of the Kentuckian.

For the convenience of those who desire to get their orders in Friday some member of the staff will be in the Kentuckian office during chapel hour, another at the north entrance of the Main Building and others will be stationed at various places around the campus.

The alumni of the University are co-operating in the sale of the annual and a number of the books have been disposed of. The annual will contain a section devoted to the Golden Jubilee, which is only one of the many attractive features of the year book. Taken with the sales that have already been made to the student body, the indications are that this week's sales will about exhaust the number of books contracted for. Only a few books in excess of the number actually reserved by the first payment will be printed.

Members of the Kentuckian staff have spent much time and labor on this year's book, which it is that will outclass all publications of previous years.

FRATERNITIES SHOW
PATRIOTIC SPIRIT

A commendable spirit is being displayed by the fraternities of the University, several of which are displaying large American flags in front of their chapter houses. In addition to the displaying of the large flags, it is fast becoming the mark of patriotism to wear a tiny metal American flag or shield in the lapel of the coat.

OPINION OF ALUMNI
SOUGHT BY PROBES

Asked to State Views on Consolidation of Colleges

MAY EMPLOY EXPERT

Inquiries to alumni of the University and others prominent in business and educational affairs thruout the State regarding general conditions here and suggestions for improvements have been sent out by the Probe Committee.

Among other questions asked are: "Do you think that efficiency or economy would be promoted by the consolidation and operation of the College of Mechanical Engineering and the College of Civil Engineering under one dean? If so, why? If not, why?" "State your opinion regarding the discipline of the institution, the moral influence of the faculty, and of the various faculties upon the student body, and the results obtained within the last four years."

"What reputation does the University bear and in what estimation is it held in your section of the State? Do you know any means whereby adverse criticism, if it exists, can be eliminated?"

The Probe Committee will reconvene in Lexington April 9 at the call of Chairman R. G. Gordon. Hearings begun at the initial meeting here several weeks ago will be resumed and investigations of a general nature concerning the University and the Experiment Station will be continued.

From the fact that the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees appropriated $3,000 a few days ago for the purpose of carrying on the investigation, the opinion exists that an expert in scholastic requirements and general university training will be employed by the committee to examine conditions in the various departments.

CONDITT WINNER OF
IMPROMPTU CONTEST

The annual impromptu oratorical contest of the Patterson Literary Society, held in the society rooms last Saturday night, was won by Marion Conditt, with H. L. Stewart coming in second. The prize given the winner was a handsome set of historical works donated by President Barker. Professor Weaver and Mr. Grove acted as judges.

The contestants were not notified of the subject until a few hours before the time of delivery, and their speeches were to a large extent extemporaneous. The subject of all the talks was "The fallacy of allowing a referendum in regard to going to war."

FAIRFAX SPEAKS ON MILITARY TRAINING

"In the event of war, fifty thousand men may be needed as army officers," said Captain John C. Fairfax, commandant, when he addressed the regular meeting of the University Club of the city Saturday night. "Every man feels it his duty to render some service to the government and he who is possessed of a college education may begin now to prepare for a commission in the United States reserve forces.

"There is no reason why young men of education should enlist in the ranks when they can give their country much better service by making the added preparation and assuming additional responsibility. The pay is also much greater."

At the conclusion of Captain Fairfax's clear and vivid explanation of the bills calling for universal military service, which will provide the United States with seven million thoroly prepared men, the University Club unanimously passed resolutions in favor of compulsory military training and pledged its support to the President. These resolutions were drawn up and presented by Judge Samuel M. Wilson.

The Hour Has Come.

A wave of patriotism such as the United States has not seen since the days preceding the Spanish-American War is sweeping the entire country. The demand that the army and navy be called out to defend the rights of American citizens and to express in an emphatic manner our disapproval of the German method of waging war has grown, until, at the time this short editorial was written, the Congress is on the verge of declaring that a state of war exists. The President, in a message that is a masterpiece both from the standpoints of rhetoric and of lucidity, has asked that this be done and that an army of half a million or more be mustered in and trained for an emergency. He recommends further that universal military service laws be enacted.

America has been long suffering; she has endured insults and damages time and again that were apparently sufficient cause for declarations of war, and she has forborne. But the time for patience has ceased; President Wilson and his advisers feel that we can wait no longer; the Spirit of '76 is re-incarnated and the martial fever is abroad in the land. The Imperial German government is to learn that America can protect herself.

The Kernel feels that it is not inappropriate at this time to refer to the part that college men have played in recent military activities and the part they will undoubtedly continue to play in the near future. A large proportion of the militiamen who went to the border last summer were college men, and according to the officers they made very efficient soldiers. The University of Kentucky is proud to point to the fact that she furnished a number of these. We believe in the case of actual hostilities the majority of our students will be found in service. The training our men have had in their battalion drill will be of considerable use to them in the army, and without doubt the reputation of old Kentucky will be ably upheld, come what may.

The action of the students of the College of Law in forming a volunteer company is highly commendable and shows the spirit which animates the University man. The enthusiastic welcome accorded the men who returned from the border makes us sure that efforts like this will be appreciated. The ideal of service that is taught the college man makes him appreciate the public servant and the public benefactor.

We cannot but be sorry that the time has come when we must take up arms, but no, we must rejoice when we realize that the destinies of the greatest nation in the world are in the hands of the most competent men that world has ever seen. We have no fears for our national integrity.

"Our country, right or wrong!" We do not need that slogan. Our country is always right, so long as she fights for humanity and the rights of such men as those who fill her armies.

The Kentucky Colonel Says:

Without further delay, suh, the Government should send our cadet battalion to the front with orders to sing "The Star Spangled Banner" to the enemy and thus bring the war to an early conclusion, suh.

Lykelle Pomes No. 26.

La Follette tried to gum the works With all his might and main. He didn't want to fight the "Dutch" And wanted peace to gain. But when war was declared Straightway to fight he fared.

Superb.

Hick: I see that Jones realized his ambition to become a super-man. Quick: How's that? Hick: He got a job with the Light-agraph motion picture company and acted as one of the howling mob in "The Girth of a Nation."

The Kernel desires to congratulate the Lexington Herald on being able to sell enough war extras the evening of the President's address to Congress to pay for its new building and put a tidy sum in the bank besides.

Teacher: How did Prince Albert come to America?

Rusty: In cans, mum.

We dislike to butt in. But it seems to u that the war department should furnish Theodore Roosevelt with a bathing suit and two weeks' rations and let him swim across and bite the periscopes off some of those "Dutch" U-boats.

Bob LaFollette and Bill Bryan Were There.

Foob: I thought you had gone to live in a secret cave to escape being drafted for military service.

Boob: So I did.

Foob: What was the matter? Couldn't you find the cave?

Boob: I found the cave alright, but it was already full.

Another Model.

The following took place at the opening military drill of the Boston woman's military company:

Captainette: Mrs. Jones, will you kindly fix your hair and execute "right face?" Mrs. Smith, I am so anxious for you to lay aside your powder puff and do "right shoulder arms." As soon as you get your hat straight and your nose powdered, Miss B., I wish you would salute. This talking in ranks has got to stop, etc.

What they all thought: I should be captain. The hussy!

What they all said: If we can't talk we won't drill, so there!

What happened: Drill broke up and an informal discussion of eugenics, etc., ensued.

Safety First.

When a skeleton was brought out for study recently at a Red Cross meeting in the city one of the feminine aspirants for a job holding dying heroes' heads fainted. We got it pretty straight that a sister in the organization advised her forthwith to marry none but a fat man.

Every week we have something to be thankful for. This week it is the fact that "Gum Shoe Bill" Stone is not an alumnus of the University of Kentucky.

Get This Deep One.

First Roommate (in 2x4 dormitory room): Gee, I wish we had a little room.

Second Roommate: We have.

But Lawyers Can Charge When They Want To.

If the law department military company becomes a reality we may expect something like the following:

Captain: Charge!

High Private: May it please the captain, we plead surprise, non compos mentis, statute of limitations, sic semper tyrannis, e pluribus unum and ask for postponement.

TENNESSEE STACKS UP WITH WILDCATS; TEAM GOING GOOD

Tennessee's Terrors met the Wildcats on Stoll Field yesterday afternoon in the second baseball game of the season and are scheduled to play another this afternoon. Tuesday afternoon the Southerners trounced the Transylvania tossers 21 to 0. Owing to the fact that the Kernel goes to press Wednesday afternoon, no write-up of yesterday's little affair can be given this morning.

The team has been going exceedingly well in practice during the past week. The pitching staff especially gives the coaches great joy when they behold it. McClellan, from his Indiana performance and past records, should win practically all his games, while Cooper, Lasley and McKinney, not to mention Tommy Grubbs, "the pride of Mt. Sterling," look like winners. The infield and outfield are well fortified, and if the wrecking crew hits as it should, prospects are bright.

GIRLS' ISSUE OF THE KERNEL ANNOUNCED

The Girls' Issue of the Kernel will make its appearance two weeks from today. Miss Eliza Piggott will be editor-in-chief and will appoint her staff, members of which will be announced next week.

Once every year the co-eds are given a chance to try their hand at getting out the paper, and once each year the male contingent of the University finds out just what the gentler sex thinks of them.

What features the girls' issue will contain is being kept a secret, but Miss Piggott confidentially assured a Kernel reporter that there would be enough to keep the boys up in the air the rest of the year.

The boys who are frequent callers at Patt Hall and those who leisurely stroll over the campus with a fair co-ed during chapel hour will have the pleasure of seeing their names in print.

Due to the fact that the present staff will get out the Kernel the rest of the year, the members of it have been promised immunity by the girls.

CADETS TO DRILL EVERY DAY UNTIL INSPECTION

Promotions Made In Battalion—Other News Notes

Upon recommendation of the commandant, the Committee of Deans has ordered that drill take place at the usual time daily, except Saturdays and Sundays, until inspection. Squad drills will be held on Saturdays. The date of inspection has not yet been announced by the War Department, but it will probably take place the latter part of April or in the first part of May. Daily drill was begun last Monday.

The commandant, when interviewed, said that materials for gun bags, oil and crocus cloth, have been ordered for the purpose of cleaning rifles and other arms. The crocus cloth is intended to be used for no other purpose whatever than that of removing rust from the interior of the bores of rifles. If used on any browned parts of the guns, it will cause the metal to turn white.

He has notified the band that all members will be required to attend all drills and rehearsals in the same manner as the other members of the battalion. Wednesday of each week will be devoted entirely to indoor rehearsals. Tuesdays and Fridays will be given over principally to ceremonies such as parade and review, but may be used for rehearsals as circumstances may warrant. Mondays and Thursdays will be devoted to outdoor drill either with or without instruments as may be ordered.

HERE AND THERE

The Old Story.

"You deceived me! Before we married you said you were well off."

"I was. I didn't know it."—Punch Bowl.

Ain't It Warm?

"Nine hundred degrees in the shade," said the class fool as he held a parasol over the sheepskins.—Pelican.

Business Is Business.

The young doctor and his friend, the drug clerk, were sitting at the club window, when a richly dressed woman passed.

"There goes the only woman I ever loved," sighed the young M. D.

"So?" queried the other. "Then why don't you marry her?"

"Can't afford it; she's my best patient."—Mule.

Why Hurry?

Bess—His debts are large, but he has money enough to pay them all! Belle—Then marry him quickly, or he may!

The Lady—"Well, sue them too, then."—Boston Transcript.

SQUIRREL FOOD

BLUE RIDGE.

Blue Ridge Conference is not a place where abnormally pious fellows go to soak themselves in an atmosphere dripping with religion. If you are that sort of Righteous Willie, you will not feel at home there. They would probably drop you into the swimming pool for the sheer pleasure of hearing your holy tones come gurgling up through the water.

You might justly infer that Blue Ridge is not permeated by a severe classic formality. It is a gathering of friends; four hundred young men, and a few older men, enjoying themselves together for ten delightful days. There is nothing greater than friendship, and any possible chance to enter this Blue Ridge group should be eagerly seized. This is not a summer resort where you scrape a shallow acquaintance and painfully converse about the weather or the table.

Have you wished that you could share some of the deeper experiences of sane and healthy men? Have you wished that you could get down to something solid in religion? Have you wished you could take time to investigate some things that you have heard vaguely mentioned, or touched upon, occasionally but never really explained? Would you like to ask questions of somebody that really knows—somebody that is not afraid to dig into the very heart of things—where you will not shock some good old soul and be called an infidel just because you want to examine the evidence and make sure? Would you like to find out what method of Bible study and praying busy and practical men have found juicy and helpful?
Would you like to do something for your bunch at college, or still more, for your younger brother's bunch, to keep them from making fools of themselves, and going to the dogs?

You are the man to go to Blue Ridge. But what about finances? I have just two suggestions: (1) De-sugar beet industry, was shown in the New Chemistry Building Tuesday

Creosoting Plant of Kansas City to the important position of foreman at the Federal Creosoting Plant of Toledo, Ohio. Mr. Sullivan has been trans-

Products Company, of St. Louis, to the distillation department of the same company at Youngstown, Ohio.
Robert L. Willis, of the class of 1913,

17 ENROLL IN SHORT COURSE FIRST DAY

The first day of matriculation in the short course of the College of Mines and Metallurgy saw seventeen enrolled, the largest number of first-day matriculates since the introduction of the course a few years ago by Dean Norwood. The miners, the majority of whom came from the coal mines of Eastern Kentucky, are being trained in the theory of mining and in first-aid work, that they may be able to pass the examinations given by the State Board for foremen's certificates.
The examination will be held in Lexington, May 28.

AGS HEAR TALKS BY LOCAL PROFESSORS

The features of the meeting of the Agricultural Society Monday night were talks by two professors. Professor George H. Vansell, assistant professor of entomology and zoology, spoke of Yellowstone National Park.
He also gave the boys a pointer as to how they can recognize a person who has visited Yellowstone.

Professor P. E. Karraker, assistant in soils at the Experiment Station, and professor of soil fertility and soil physics, gave an instructive talk on "Crop Rotation." Professor Karraker waxed humorous in the first part of his talk much to the enjoyment of his hearers.

PROF. RAYNE, OF BERE A LECTURES IN CHAPEL

Materialistic Conception of the Universe Given Hard Jolts

MAN NEEDS PRAYER

"If God is as bright—may I say it reverently?—If God is as bright as Helen Keller, couldn't He speak to other spirits?" asked Professor Rayne, of Berea College, in an address to University students on his subject, "Can the Modern Man Pray?" at chapel Tuesday. Professor Rayne was to have spoken at the chapel exercises two weeks ago, but owing to a misunderstanding did not arrive.

"His mother can pray," he said, "but the modern man—scholarly, accurate, investigating, thinking, can he pray?" After asking this question, Professor Rayne proceeded to break in twain the argument of the deists "who have the conception that God manages the universe as an expert manages an enormous piece of mechanism."

"If you will accept that deistic fundamental assumption, there is no way of answering their argument. You will have no choice in this universe if the deists have that correctly."

"The laws of nature are simply guesses of what the processes of nature are. The laws of nature have been changed, but the processes are just the same. Every time that the human will acts it interferes with the course of nature but not with the laws of nature. Some people say that God could never answer a prayer unless He rearranged the whole universe."

"Nine-tenths of all the prayers could be answered if God had the power of putting a thot in the mind of man. God can speak to people. He can do it in all sorts of ways. If you can arrange a thing, can not God put a suggestion in the mind of a man?"

"If you have the will to pray, and you must, your will is the enthroning of God. Prayer is the linking of yourself, your thot and your feeling. What we need is to be proficient in prayer."

BRADLEY ORDERED TO RETURN TO REGIMENT

Bradley, who has been an instructor in the English department of the University since last September, has received orders to report to the Fifth South Carolina Regiment, National Guards, in which he holds a First Lieutenant's commission, at once.
